Large islands, feature walls and other white-hot kitchen trends

The 2020 U.S. Houzz Kitchen Trends Study surveys thousands of homeowners on their kitchen reno projects. Here are a few of their findings...

Quartz remains top choice for countertops

Engineered quartz countertops are the top choice for remodels and refreshes. Caesarstone quartz surfaces are stain, scratch and heat resistant. They are nonporous and extremely low maintenance.

White countertops are white-hot

The top color choice for countertops continues to hold steady with 1/3rd of homeowners choosing white. The most popular choice in backsplash color is also white. White countertops often make a space look more expansive, cleaner and brighter. Choosing a white countertop allows for greater creativity when selecting a color for your cabinets.

Contrasting islands grow in popularity

Choosing an island color that's in contrast to your countertop has increased in popularity. This special touch turns the island into a focal point and can help break up the monotony of an all-white kitchen.

Large islands yield ample storage

Almost all homeowners add some type of storage to their island when upgrading or adding a new one. From cabinets with doors and drawers to open shelving, having extra storage space is a key feature for 98% of homeowners.

Backsplashes turn into feature walls

Homeowners are taking the backsplash to new highs by extending the backsplash from countertop to ceiling and creating a feature wall in the process. This is a great way to incorporate pops of color or create a seamless transition from the Caesarstone countertop to the ceiling or to upper cabinets.

Modern design is on the rise

While Transitional and Contemporary continue to lead design styles, Modern style is growing rapidly. Farmhouse and Traditional, on the other hand, are losing ground.
